Journal of Dentistry for Children, a journal of the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry that promotes the practice, education, and research specifically related to the specialty of pediatric dentistry.

Journal of Dentistry for Children is an official publication of the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD). The journal invites submission of reports of original research, case reports, clinical articles, editorials, and statements of opinions pertinent to pediatric dentistry. Contributions do not necessarily represent the views of the AAPD, nor can the AAPD guarantee the authenticity of any research reported herein.

Journal of Dentistry for Children (ISSN 1935-5068) is electronically published 3 times per year.

AAPD Disclaimer: The opinions and recommendations expressed in this publication are those of the authors and are not necessarily endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry.

The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry, the recognized leader in children's oral health, merged with the American Society of Dentistry for Children effective June 30, 2002.
